

His Power

Job 26:2

1 How you have helped the po - wer-less!

4 How you have saved the arm that is fee - ble!

8 What ad - vice you have of - fered to one with-out

11 wis - dom! And what great in - sight you have dis-played!

14 Who has helped you ut - ter these words — ?

17 And whose spi - rit spoke from your mouth?

20 And whose spi - rit spoke from your mouth?

24 The dead are in deep an - - - - - guish,

28 C E

those be-neath the wa - ters and all that

32 A live in them. Death is na - ked be - fore God; De -

37 E F#

struc-tion lies un - co - vered And whose spi - rit

42 F A E

whose spi-rit spoke from your mouth?

46 3

He spreads out the nor - thern

50 C E

skies o - ver emp - ty space; he sus-pends the earth o - ver

54 A E C

no-thing. He wraps up the wa-ters in his clouds, yet the clouds do not burst un - der their weight .

58 D E

62

He co-vers the face of the full - moon,

67 A

sprea-ding his clouds o - ver it. He marks out the ho - ri - zon

70 on the face of the wa-ters for a

73 boun-da - ry be-tween light and dark - ness. The pil-lars of the hea-vens

76 quake a-ghast at his re - buke. By his po - wer he churned up the

79 sea; by his wis - dom he cut Ra-hab to

83 pie - ces. By his breath the skies be - came

86 fair; his hand pierced the gli - ding ser - pent. And

89 these are but the out - er fringe of his works; how

91 faint the whis-per we hear of — him! Who then — can

95 un - der-stand — the thun - der

98 of his pow - er — ?